Dearest Parents

We read your letter of - (I've forgotten the date) it came yesterday, & in it you seem to be somewhat exercised in your mind about my case. But you need not be, any longer, as I am entirely recovered. Sarah is rather better today; as Dr. Bowlby was sent from Portland, we got him to come and see her last night; he came again this morning and had us get a strengthening medicine of some kind.
She will be all right in a few days I think.
Willie and I have been working at the oat this morning. W. thinks that cannot get them all into the barn, more than we thought. We could not get all the hay into the space alloted to it, and so had to make a small stack.

Yesterday we had the first mess of green corn, which was too small.
Mary was considerably offended that you ~~was~~ wrote ~~so~~ so much more about my indisposition than about hers.

The weather is very fine warm but not hot,
sunny, smokeless, breezy and not very dusty. Things are progressing finely, the sound of the hammer and saw is heard in the college building. your loving son
