HYUNDAI MOTORS - SEOUL, KOREA

The following is to brief the Governor in the event that a call is made on this account during his stay in Seoul.

1. Hyundai Motors is the largest manufacturing firm of automobiles in Korea, with an expected production capacity of 300,000 units per annum by 1985. Currently, two ranges of passenger cars are being produced with a variety of models in each range. The "Stellar" models are the more expensive range; the "Pony" models are the economy range. Exports of Hyundai automobiles were limited to Asian markets up to the fall of 1983. At that time, Hyundai decided to test the North American market by selling "Ponies" in Canada. The first shipment of 4,000 units was sold in less than one month and Canadian market penetration has been assured.
2. The Canadian program is really a dress rehearsal for U.S. market penetration in the fall of 1985. To the U.S., Hyundai plans to import up to 200,000 units per year of a brand new front wheel drive "Pony" that has been engineered with the help of Mitsubishi Japan. According to their plans, up to 60,000 units would come through a Pacific Northwest port of entry.
3. For the last five years, the Port has made it a point to keep Hyundai advised of our auto handling abilities. According to Hyundai, we are the only U.S. port to have done this. Further, when Hyundai opened their Canadian Headquarters in Toronto, we made it a point to develop a relationship at that location as well. To further enhance our position, we have seen that Port Services Co. (vehicle processors at Portland) and Convoy Co. (truckers specializing in auto carriage) also presented themselves to Hyundai.
4. Should the Governor call on Hyundai Motors, we would hope that there would be no publicity attached to the visit. We do not wish the competition to wake up and solicit this account vigorously at this time.
