

Brian Beinlich (PART 2)

August 16 2010

00:00: Starts out with lots of information about his farm, what he plants, donations to the food bank, acreage, etc.

11:54: Brian's wife and son show up and talk about what they like most about living on the farm.

13:03: Sharon Beinlich describes her feelings about the farm- "it's some of the best land in the world for growing food and if you can, you should grow it, and if you know how, you should spread the word and teach other people how, and that's what we're doing here."

17:41: Sharon talks about the positive qualities of having chickens. They get fresh eggs and they know that everything from the chicken is healthy because there is a closed system within their farm. They grow the food for the chickens and therefore they don't have to worry about what the chickens are eating. Also the animals make lots of fertilizer for the field.
